(Ch. 7) (July '25)
- (4) Why is Maharashtra known as the land that nurtured the Indian Film Industry? Explain with examples.
(Ch. 6) (July '19)

ANSWERS

- (1) In the latter part of nineteenth century, German thinker, Karl Marx, put forward 'Class Theory' in his book 'Das Kapital'. According to him :
 - (1) History is not about abstract ideas but living people. The fulfilment of basic needs of people depends on the nature of prevalent means of production and the ownership.

(2) All the different strata of the society do not get equal access to these means of production which causes the division of the society into classes. It results into class struggle.

(3) The class which owns means of production economically exploits the rest of the classes. Human history, according to him, is the history of class struggle.

(2) History gives us knowledge about the events that happened in past. Applied history helps us in understanding how the knowledge can be put to use for our benefit as well as for the benefit of future generations. Applied history is correlated with our present in the following ways :

(1) Knowledge of our past helps us in deciding our course of action in present.

(2) The heritage of our ancestors exists in tangible and intangible form. We have the curiosity to know more about our past because they represent the creative thoughts and traditions of that period.

(3) With the help of applied history we can not only come to know about the heritage but also conserve and preserve it.

(4) We can be better equipped to face social challenges in the present because the knowledge of history can provide guidance in finding solutions to contemporary social issues and incorporate (include) them in the social planning.

(5) The direction of future development is decided when we rightly analyse our present with our knowledge of the past acquired through applied history.

(3) Sports and history are closely related with each other.

(1) It is a must for a sports writer to know the history of the game he chooses to write on.

(2) In order to write a review on any sport competition, the critic should have knowledge of competitions held in the past.

(3) A comparative study of the skills, techniques and strategies used in the past and developments or improvements in the present makes the review comprehensive.

(4) The writer has to resort to history while writing columns or articles on sports events like Olympics or Asiad or any national or international matches.

(5) While commentating on Akashvani and Doordarshan, an expert commentator needs to have good knowledge of the history of the game, previous records of illustrious and eminent players, statistical analysis and historical anecdotes related to the game and players.

(6) Coaches, special experts, selection committee should have information of the players, their strength and weakness and also history of the players in the opposing team. Even players should know history of their competitors.

In short, it is essential to know the history of all the aspects related to sports.

(4) (1) The contribution of Madanrao Madhavrao Pitale, the Patwardhan family of Kalyan and Harishchandra Sakharam Bhatavdekar are very important in the development of Indian movies.

(2) Dadasaheb Torane, A. P. Karandikar, S. N. Patankar, V. P. Divekar sought help from foreign technicians and made a movie entitled Pundalik. It was released in Mumbai in 1912.

(3) 'Raja Harishchandra', the first movie, made by Dadasaheb Phalke was completely processed in India. It was released in Mumbai in 1913.

(4) The credit of making and releasing a full-length movie goes to Maharashtra.

Therefore Maharashtra is known as the land that nurtured the Indian film industry.

Ans. In modern times, tourism is not limited to being a job-oriented profession but it also contributes to the nation's development.

(1) Safety of the tourists and secure transport facilities should be given utmost preference.

(2) Availability of good accommodation and amenities of reasonably good standard should be made available. Good sanitation facilities on the travel routes and at tourist sites should be provided. Hygiene should be maintained.

(3) Pamphlets, guides, maps, translators should be made available to the tourists, preferably in their own language.

(4) Attention should be given towards the needs of specially challenged people.

In this way, by taking of all these crucial issues tourism can be developed.

CHAPTER 9 : HERITAGE MANAGEMENT

(23) Why is library management important?

(March '19 – '24; Sept. '21; July '22)

Ans. Library is not just about a collection of books but managing it is equally important.

(1) Readers can easily get the books they want if the library is properly organised.

(2) The location of the book should be easily traced. It saves the time and efforts of readers as well as the librarian.

(3) Preservation and conservation of books is done effectively with proper management. It prolongs life of books and causes less damage.

(4) If the management is well acquainted, they will have good collection that will make available good quality books to reader.

(5) Instead of collecting books on one subject there should be variety in the collection so as to cater of different readers who are very selective in their choices. Facilities like proper catalogues, indexes (lists), computerised systems and modern facilities are provided by effective management of library.

(6) If the management is creative it will organise exhibitions, advertise, have seasonal offers for vacations, conduct competitions to increase membership.

(The information provided in the textbook is insufficient.)

TRUE OR FALSE, WITH REASONS

[Q. 7 : Any 2 out of 3; Total marks 4]

Important Tips : (1) You have to answer any two statements with reasons out of the three statements asked. (2) First, identify and write whether the statement is true or false. (3) Thereafter, if statement is true, the reason for it or if it is false, the reason for the same must to be written. (4) Only writing if statement is true or false is not asked. (5) Sometimes, negative statement will be given as positive and vice versa. So read the statement very carefully. (6) Write the statement again at the end of the answer. (7) For correctly stating whether the statement is true or false, 1 mark and for writing exact reasons 1 mark. Each sub-question carries 2 marks; Total 4 marks.

Q. State whether the following statements are true or false, giving reasons :

CHAPTER 1 : WORKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

(1) Indian democracy is considered the largest democracy in the world. (March '20; July '22 – '23)

Ans. The above statement is True.

(1) Indian Constitution cancelled all the conditions which were put for voting before independence thereby increasing the number of voters.

(2) The Constitution adopted adult suffrage which has facilitated all adult men and women to cast their vote.

(3) The age limit to vote was reduced to 18 years from 21 years which gave opportunity of political participation to the young generation. No other democratic country in the world has voters in such large numbers.

Hence, Indian democracy is the largest democracy in the world.

(2) Secrecy in the working of Government had increased due to Right to Information. (Sept. '21; March '25)

Ans. The statement is False.

(1) To strengthen democracy and increase mutual trust between the government and the people, it is very important that the people should know about the functioning of the government.

(2) Transparency and accountability are the hallmarks (symbol) of good governance.

(3) With Right to Information given to the citizens, Government became more transparent. Thus, the Right to Information has reduced element of secrecy in administration.

CHAPTER 2 : THE ELECTORAL PROCESS

(3) Under special circumstances, Election Commission holds elections in a particular constituency for a second time.

(March '23 – '24 – '25)

Ans. The statement is True.

Reasons : (1) The Election Commission has the responsibility of resolving any disputes that may arise regarding elections.

(2) Accordingly, to declare any candidate as disqualified or conduct re-election in a particular constituency is the responsibility of the Election Commission. It also conducts re-election in a particular constituency if the representative resigns or due to his/her death seat becomes vacant.

(4) The state government decides as to when and in how many stages the elections would be held in a particular state.

(March '19 – '22)

Ans. The statement is False.

(1) The entire process of conducting elections is entrusted upon and managed by the Election Commission.

(2) If this responsibility is given to the state government it may adopt a biased approach.

(3) Hence, the Constitution has formed the Election Commission an independent body to carry out the responsibility.

Therefore, it is decided by the Election Commission as to when and in how many stages it will conduct elections.

CHAPTER 3 : POLITICAL PARTIES

(5) Political parties are social organisations.

Ans. The statement is True.

(1) People who have similar views come together voluntarily and form a party, so it can be said that political parties are an integral part of our society.

(2) The political parties try to solve problems of the people.

(3) Some political parties represent the role of a particular community in society, its ideology and work to achieve it.

Hence, it can be said that political parties are social organisations.

(6) Shiromani Akali Dal is a national party.

(July '19 – '23; Nov. '20)

Ans. The above statement is False.

The Election Commission of India recognises a political party as National or Regional party on the basis of specific criteria namely :

(1) The number of seats secured in Parliament and Legislative Assembly or percentage of votes secured.

(2) Shiromani Akali Dal does not meet the criteria listed above.

(3) As its influence is limited to the state of Punjab and not in any other state.

The Election Commission has given recognition to it as regional party.

(7) Coalition politics leads to instability.

(July '22; March '24 – '25)

Ans. The statement is False.

(1) As no single party got majority after the elections held in 1989, coalition government came to power at the centre and many states.

(2) Parties had to set aside their policies and programmes and concentrate on a common agenda to run the government.

(3) Both Congress Party and the Bharatiya Janata Party made an experiment of establishing coalition government. The National Democratic Alliance formed by BJP and its partners and the Democratic Front government formed by Congress and its partners ruled at the Centre and state level effectively.

Therefore, the belief that coalition government brings instability was proved wrong.

(8) Sometimes the sentiments of regionalism gets strengthened in the country.

Ans. The statement is True.

(1) A country like India has diversity of language, region and culture. This diversity creates affinity towards a region.

(2) This affinity gives rise to excessive regional pride and initiating movements to save it. The significance of such movements is claimed to be for preserving culture.

(3) Claiming the rights of regional people on material resources, job opportunities and development of the region, these movements strengthen the regional pride.

(4) Thus, this excessive regional pride turns morbid taking the form of regionalism.

CHAPTER 4 : SOCIAL AND POLITICAL MOVEMENTS

(9) Movements are important in democracy. (Sept. '21)

Ans. The statement is True.

(1) People organise themselves and start a movement to solve social issues.

(2) Leaders and activists provide all the information regarding those issues to the government.

(3) The government takes notice of the problems because of the movement.

(4) Some movements aim at opposing some policies of the government and certain decisions. This is the most recognised method of protest in democracy.

Hence, movements have great importance in democracy.

(10) Consumer movement came into existence.

(March '22 - '24) OR

Write short note : Consumer Movement. (Sept. '21)

Ans. The statement is True.

(1) The consumers have to face different problems because of changing economy and social system.

(2) Adulteration, increased cost of products and faulty weights and measures are some of the problems faced by the consumers.

(3) To protect the consumers from such frauds, the Consumer Protection Act was passed in 1986.

(4) The Consumer Protection Movement was started to create awareness among the consumers about their rights and their safety.

CHAPTER 5 : CHALLENGES FACED BY INDIAN DEMOCRACY

(11) Alertness is required to sustain democracy.

(July '19 – '23; Nov. '20)

Ans. The above statement is True.

(1) In order to make democracy successful it should be practised by people in all aspects of their life. It should not remain limited at the government level.

(2) Conscious effort should be taken to keep the rights of the people intact.

(3) The different challenges faced by democracy like corruption, violence and criminalisation should be tackled timely and strictly.

It is necessary that people and the government should remain alert for the sustenance of democracy.

(12) People may lose confidence in the democratic process due to corruption during elections.

(March '19)

Ans. The statement is True.

(1) In order to strengthen democracy, it is important to conduct elections in a free and fair atmosphere.

(2) There are instances of the election process getting affected by corruption.

(3) Bogus voting, bribing the voters, abducting (kidnapping) voters and ballot boxes, distributing articles to lure (attract) voters and other such things take place.

All these things make people lose faith in the democratic process.

(13) Communalism does not cause much harm to the nation.

Ans. The statement is False.

(1) Increase in communalism leads to religious conflict in the country.

(2) Increasing conflicts in turn create frictions in society and destroy social unity. It creates division in society resulting in terrorist activities.

(3) People's participation also reduces in the democratic process. This ultimately creates instability in society and democracy comes in danger.

Complete solutions to all Board's Activity Sheets.

The Smart Solutions, For Perfect Preparation

Important Tips : (1) Two concepts will be given in this sub-question. You have to answer any one. (2) Along with the meaning, features, importance and information about the concept should be written. (3) It should be answered in 25-30 words only.
Total 2 marks.

Q. Explain the concept :

CHAPTER 1 : WORKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

(1) Rights Based Approach :

(March '24)

Ans. (1) India adopted democracy after independence. Each government which came to power took efforts to make the democratisation process more profound.

(2) In the initial stages, these governments considered citizens as 'beneficiaries'.

(3) After the year 2000, approach towards citizens changed. Democratic reforms were considered as 'rights' of citizens.

(4) Hence, the Right to Information, Education and Food Security was granted not as beneficiaries but as rights of citizens.

This approach is known as Rights Based Approach.

(2) Women representation in Lok Sabha :

Ans. (1) The Constitution of India empowers women by granting them equal status with men and equal political rights.

(2) 22 women were elected in the Lok Sabha elections held in 1951-52. Their number increased to 66 in 2014 elections.

(3) The 73rd and 74th amendment reserved 33% of seats for women in local self-governing institutions. This percentage has been raised to 50% in several states including Maharashtra.

(4) If the number of women representatives increased in Lok Sabha, it will help in reducing incidents of violence against women and increase their involvement in the decision-making process.

(3) Right to Vote :

(Nov. '20)

Ans. (1) Earlier the Indian Constitution had fixed the voting age of 21 years.

(2) The voting age was lowered to 18 years.

(3) The young voters secured the right to vote and the increased number of voters was unparalleled.

(4) They got the right to decide how their representative should be.

(5) Moreover, it provided to the unrepresented youth an opportunity to become part of political process being literate and politically conscious.

(6) It strengthens the democracy. It helped to increase the political maturity of the youth of the country.

(4) Provisions regarding Minorities :

(March '25)

Ans. (1) Constitution has adopted several measures for the protection of the rights of minorities.

(2) Several policies have been adopted by the government to provide them the opportunities in education and employment.

(3) The Constitution has prohibited any form of discrimination on the basis of caste, creed, religion, language and region.

(4) The Constitution provided rights to the minorities to protect and conserve their language, culture and establish educational institutions.

CHAPTER 2 : THE ELECTORAL PROCESS

(5) Reorganising the Constituencies :

(Sept. '21)

Ans. (1) The Election Commission of India formed constituencies for Lok Sabha and Legislative Assembly.

(2) The Election Commission had decided upon the constituencies before the first election. As the years passed, there was a lot of migration of the people for business and other activities from the villages to cities.

(3) Hence, the need to readjust the constituencies arose. The Delimitation Commission of the election commission does the work of reorganising or restructuring of constituencies.

(4) The Delimitation Commission does not succumb to any pressure while restructuring the constituencies.

(6) Mid-Term Elections :

(March '24)

Ans. (1) If the elected government in power loses its majority before completing its term.

(2) If no party gets complete majority, then two or more parties come together and form a coalition government. Such coalition government collapses if any party withdraws the given support.

(3) In such situations, the government is left with no option other than resigning.

(4) If there is no alternative available to form government, then the Parliament or State Legislative Assembly is dissolved before completing its term.

In such a scenario, the Election Commission has to conduct mid-term elections.

(7) Election Commission :

(Nov. '20)

Ans. (1) One of the most important features of a democratic nation is elections at regular intervals. Holding free and fair elections at regular intervals is essential for a democratic system. (2) Under the Article 324 of the Constitution, Election Commission was formed in 1950. It is an autonomous body. The President appoints one Chief Election Commissioner and two additional commissioners. (3) The rank and powers of all the three commissioners are the same. The declaration of dates of the elections, to the announcement of the results, the entire procedure is monitored by the Election Commission. (4) The Election Commission does not have its own staff to carry out this procedure. So they carry out the work with the help of government employees and teachers. Special provisions are made for all finances incurred by the Election Commission.

(8) Electoral reforms :

(July '22)

Ans. Holding free and fair elections at regular intervals is an important indicator of democracy. As future of democracy depends on elections it is important to make changes in the representatives and the process to hold elections from time to time.

(1) 50% seats should be reserved for women candidates by every party.

(2) Candidates with a criminal background should be permanently barred from contesting any elections.

(3) Political parties should not give them tickets.

(4) The misuse of money should be stopped during elections. The government should incur the expenditure.

(9) Regionalism :

(March '19 – '20)

Ans. (1) India is a vast country with great physical diversity. People belonging to different regions have their own language, culture and traditions.

(2) Along with these, we find diversity in literature, education, history and movements.

(3) Each one feels an affinity towards their language, traditions and region. This affinity gradually develops into the identity consciousness and gives rise to excessive regional pride.

(4) People start giving preference only to their language and region.

This is known as Regionalism.

(10) National Party :

(March '23 – '25; July '23)

Ans. A party which functions at the national level is known as National Party.

(1) The Election Commission has laid certain criteria for a party to get recognised as a National party. The political party should secure at least 6% valid votes in four or more states in the earlier Lok Sabha or State Assembly elections and minimum four members should be elected in the Lok Sabha from any state or states in the earlier elections.

OR

(2) The candidates of a party should be elected from minimum three states or should be elected from minimum 2% constituencies of the total Lok Sabha constituencies.

(11) Multi-Party System :

(March '22)

Ans. (1) When many political parties compete for political power and more or less they are equally influential is called multi-party system.

(2) India has multi-party system.

(3) There are both types of parties in India – National and Regional.

(4) Democracy develops in Multi-Party System.

CHAPTER 4 : SOCIAL AND POLITICAL MOVEMENTS

(12) Tribal Movement :

(July '19)

Ans. (1) Tribal community was always dependent on forest wealth for their living. (2) The British had prohibited the tribals from making use of forest wealth to earn their livelihood. (3) Kolam, Gond, Santhal, Koli, Bhilla, Munda are tribals who lived in different parts of India revolted against the British. (4) Even after independence their problem to earn a livelihood is not solved. Their right on the forest land, to gather forest products and to cultivate on forest land is not yet recognised.

Therefore, for these demands, Tribal Movement is active in many parts.

(13) Worker/Labour Movement :

(March '25)

Ans. (1) Industries in public and private sector like textile mills, railway companies started in India in the latter part of the nineteenth century. Due to industrialisation, a large number of labour force came into existence. (2) This led to lot of labour issues. In 1920, All India Trade Union Congress was established to solve their problems. (3) Many unions were formed after independence. The Trade Union Movement was very effective from 1960 till 1980s. (4) After 1980s trade union movement lost its momentum and slowly disintegrated. Globalisation gave a final blow to the movement.

(14) Water Revolution :

(March '19 – '22)

Ans. (1) Dr. Rajendra Singh built thousands of 'Johads' in Rajasthan. (2) He revived many rivers in the desert region of Rajasthan. (3) He formed an organisation – ‘Tarun Bharat Sangh’ which built eleven thousand Johads to harvest water. (4) He started a campaign for water conservation, revival of rivers, forest conservation and wildlife conservation. (5) He worked continuously for this cause for 31 years building 11 thousand johads bringing about water revolution in Rajasthan. Therefore, he is called the Waterman of India.

(15) Left-extremists – Naxalism :

Ans. (1) Naxalism began as a movement to remove injustice done to the landless farmers and tribals by the landlords. (2) As it had the influence of Marxism, it was called Left Extremists movement. (3) But later, it lost its focus and became violent. (4) The Naxalite groups adopted violent ways to oppose the government instead of fighting for farmers and tribals.

They carried out armed attacks on political leaders, police and army.

(16) Criminalisation of politics : (March '24)

Ans. (1) Participation of criminals in political process is criminalisation of politics. It is a serious problem and a threat to our democratic system. (2) Political parties or candidates spread terror among people using money and muscle power. (3) Political parties who give candidature to people with criminal background are responsible for violence during elections. (4) Such candidates after coming to power continue their criminal activities. They create financial scams and trouble the opponents.

Criminalisation of politics weakens democracy.

(17) Communalism and Terrorism : (July '19)

Ans. (1) Communalism and Terrorism causes great harm to nation. Communalism emerges out of narrow religious pride.

(2) Increasing communalism triggers religious conflict in the country. Religious conflict hampers (disturb) social stability.

(3) Society gets divided on communal lines. Communalism gives rise to terrorism. People's participation in democratic process is reduced to a great extent due to terrorism.

(4) It causes great damage to our nation.
